The McQuilkin Group

The McQuilkin Group is an independent Scottish family business that has been serving laboratories for over 100 years. The group is comprised of NELS, McQuilkin & Co., and Laboratory Specialist Services.

Based in County Durham and East Kilbride, respectively, NELS and McQuilkin and Co. operate as service driven laboratory suppliers. They listen, solve problems and find the right solutions for their clients. They have a large product portfolio through their local, national and international suppliers and deliver to laboratories across the North of England and Scotland.

Miele Professional's partnership with the McQuilkin Group

Miele Professional has proudly partnered with NELS and McQuilkin and Co. for over 40 years.

The collaboration began when McQuilkin's former Managing Director, Gordon McQuilkin, sought to expand the business. At an exhibition, he was introduced to Richard Price, who extended an invitation for McQuilkin to become an agent for Miele. Shortly after, Miele arranged a comprehensive training session to equip the McQuilkin sales team with the knowledge needed to promote Miele products.

For more than a century, NELS and McQuilkin have served the North of England and Scotland, supporting a wide range of industries including Science, Healthcare, Pharmaceutical Production, and Food Analysis. Through this partnership, clients gain access to Miele Professional's cutting-edge laboratory machines, along with an extensive selection of lab products and solutions.
